

DOING THE BODY IN THE 21ST CENTURY

Keynote Address

Karma Chávez, University of Wisconsin

THE QUEER POLITICS OF COALITION

Friday, April 1, 2016
332 Cathedral of Learning
6–7:30 p.m.

This keynote address names coalition as queer and explores the affective embodied and tactical conditions that constitute coalition. Considering the themes of belonging, intimacy, pain, and hope, Karma Chávez conceptualizes how we might theorize and engage radical coalition politics.

About the Speaker

Karma Chávez is interested in queer and feminist theories, immigration rhetoric, social movement building, activism, and coalitional politics. She is the author of Queer Migration Politics as well as the co-founder of the Queer Migration Research Network.
